

It is bad enough that our air waves are constricted because people don't know how to use their on/off button on their TV or radio, but why should I have to endure on my telephone/cell phone unwanted calls for services that I do not need. If I wanted their service in the first place, I would have contacted them myself.